RETIRING MODERATOR PREACHED.

Election of a New Moderator Takes Place This Afternoon—Great Mass of Business to Be Transacted—McGiffert Case and Church Union Coming Up.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 18.—The one hundred and eleventh annual assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States began its session in Westminster church, in this city, this morning.

The opening sermon was preached by the retiring moderator, the Rev. Wallace Radcliffe, D. D., of Washington.

About 650 commissioners were in attendance from the 22 synods, and the assembly brought to the city some 50 foreign missionaries besides many persons interested in the eight auxiliary boards and other church organizations, including the seven women's foreign mission boards.

This afternoon the assembly was organized and a new moderator is to be elected.

At least seven candidates for the moderatorship were announced, but there was a prospect that the contest would narrow down to one between the "heresy hunters" and those who were disposed to overlook heterodox tendencies. The Rev. Dr. William McKibben of Walnut Hills church, Cincinnati, was supposed to be the candidate of the conservatives, the other candidates being Rev. Dr. R. F. Coyle, First church, Oakland, Cal.; Rev. Dr. R. F. Sample, Westminster church, New York; Rev. Matthias Hains, First church, Indianapolis; Rev. Maltbie D. Babcock, Brown Memorial church, Baltimore; Rev. Charles A. Dickey, president Presbyterian hospital, Philadelphia; L. R. Arthur J. Brown, New York, secretary of the board of foreign missions.

To all appearances Dr. Robert F. Sample, New York, is in the lead for the high honor, although Dr. M. L. Haines, Indianapolis, is a close second.

Rev. William Henry Roberts, stated clerk of the assembly, has held the position for years and is likely to continue to hold it.

The assembly has a great mass of business to transact. Among the more conspicuous subjects are the union of the northern and southern wings of the church and the standing of ministers without pastors. The work of the eight boards, three special committees and numerous routine matters will come before the assembly, there being some 30 separate items on the docket. To dispose of this business three sessions will be held daily for ten days at least, the evening session being omitted until later on.

The case of Dr. McGiffert of Union Theological seminary may come up, but the chance seems to be against it.

The Presbyterian board of foreign missions was addressed by prominent men and women of the church and by a number of missionaries from distant lands, who received warm greetings.

MISSIONARY LOVE FEAST.

Executive Board of M. P. Woman's Foreign Missionary Society Met.

PITTSBURGH, May 18.—The twentieth annual meeting of the general executive board of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist Protestant church of the United States was convened at the Bellevue Methodist Protestant church, of which Dr. George Shaffer is pastor.

The session of the Missionary society will continue until next Sunday night. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. F. A. Brown, who announced that according to the time-honored custom of the Missionary society a love feast of the meeting would be a love feast. During this impressive service, which was interspersed with hymns, a number of the older members present related their experiences.

There were present two missionaries who have completed five years' service in Japan. One of them, Miss Anna L. Forrest, who was stationed at Nagoya, has been home for some time. She resides at Littleton, Pa., and has been actively engaged traveling among the churches, organizing societies and raising money for the work in foreign fields. The other missionary, Miss Annetta Lawrence, has returned from her work in Yokohama, Shizuoka and Nagoya. Her home is in Springfield, Mass. They desire to return to Japan.

In the afternoon the roll of delegates was called. This was followed by the reading of the more important parts of minutes of the last annual meeting, which was held at Baltimore. Some of the annual reports were heard and the committees were appointed.

Next Monday, following this convention, the annual meeting of the Home Missionary society of the Methodist Protestant church will begin.

Laid Foundation Stone of Victoria and Albert Museum, in London.

The ambassadors, members of the cabinet and the leading state officials occupied a pavilion at the site of the museum. Crowds of people gathered along the route.

The queen performed the ceremony without leaving her carriage and amid much enthusiasm.

The United States Ambassador Joseph H. Choate and Mrs. Choate drove up in a plain carriage. Mr. Choate wore a dark suit in remarkable contrast to the uniforms of the other diplomats. Mr. and Mrs. Choate were given a prominent place on the platform.

INSURGENTS MOVED.

ADVANCE BEGUN BY AMERICANS.

Major Kobbie's Column Reached San Luis—San Isidro Taken by Colonel Summers' Men—Severe Rebel Loss—Twenty-Third Infantry Sailed For Jolo.

MANILA, May 18.—11:25 a. m.—Major Kobbie's column reached San Luis, about eight miles up the Rio Grande, meeting with but slight opposition. One man was wounded during a brush with the rebels.

About daylight today the Americans began a further advance toward Candaba, about six miles up the river, beyond San Luis.

The insurgents along General MacArthur's front evacuated their positions during the night, presumably moving further up the railroad.

The Twenty-third infantry has sailed on the transport Leon XIII for Jolo island to relieve the Spanish garrison there.

MANILA, May 18.—Although the rebels threatened San Fernando in considerable force, large numbers of natives, a majority of them being families with their household goods, were returning daily to the towns inside the American lines, at Apalit especially.

Many of the richer Filipinos were coming to Manila and laborers were returning to work in the rice fields. The latter showed their respect for American sovereignty by removing their hats to the passing trains.

Owing to the bad condition of the wagon roads, the work of repairing the railroad was being actively pushed. All the broken bridges had been trestled and only a few excavations remained to be filled up. Trains will undoubtedly be running through to San Fernando in a few days. The only natives there were some Filipinos from Macabebe, who were trading with our soldiers.

About daylight Wednesday Lieutenant Hill, who with 35 men of the Fourth infantry was concealed in the trenches near Pasig, was attacked by a force of rebels who evidently imagined they could capture one of our outposts, because only a few shots had been fired by the American force. A few volleys put the enemy to flight, the rebels losing five men killed and a number of wounded.

The army gunboat Nipindegan returned here from the lake, having been disabled by a cannon shot from a rebel position near Santa Cruz, which broke her rudder post.

Colonel Summers' command, consisting of the Twenty-second infantry on the left, the Minnesota regiment in the center and the Oregon and North Dakota regiments on the right, preceded by battery of artillery, advanced from Baluarte about daylight Wednesday. The troops first encountered the enemy about two miles from San Isidro, the rebels retiring soon after our artillery opened fire. Outside the town a rebel force, estimated to number about 2,000 men, was entrenched. It made a slight resistance, but evacuated the position soon after our troops turned its right flank.

The enemy's loss was estimated at 15 men killed and 20 wounded. Our troops also captured three prisoners and many rifles. On the American side one soldier of the Oregon regiment and one of the Minnesota regiment were slightly wounded.

After capturing the town Colonel Summers' troops continued their advance, pursuing the retreating rebels for several miles.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The following dispatch was received at the war department:

MANILA, May 17.

Adjutant General, Washington:

Situation as follows: Lawton, with tact and ability, has covered Bulacan province with his column and driven insurgent troops northward into San Isidro, second insurgent capital, which he captured this morning; is now driving enemy northward into mountains. He has constant fighting, inflicting heavy losses and suffering few casualties; appearance of his troops on flanks of enemy behind entrenched positions grown up at every strategic point and town very demoralizing to the insurgents and has given them no opportunity to reconcentrate scattered troops. Kobbie's column, with gunboats, proceeding up Rio Grande. OTIS.

Portions of the dispatch which were not made public related to future movements of the troops.

The fact that General Lawton is sustaining few losses in his forward movement, and that in almost every tactical contact with the enemy, is one proof of the utter demoralization of the rebels. According to General Otis' cable they still continue to throw up entrenchments, but General Lawton's strategy outflanks each position in turn, keeping them in full retreat and giving them no opportunity to reconstruct their scattered forces.

MacArthur's division drove them back along the line of the railroad to Dagupan, on the bay of Lingayen, as far as Calumpit. All efforts to impede his progress by the destruction of bridges were frustrated. The insurgents were forced out of their strong positions.

It will soon be the mountains or the sea for the insurgents. As our troops could be transported by sea to the mouth of the Agno and a new base of operations established there, it would be folly for them to take that route. Scattered, demoralized and disheartened, it is almost certain that the rebels in desperation will retreat into the fastnesses of the mountains where they would be safe from pursuit, and where they could keep up a guerilla warfare indefinitely or until their leaders came to their senses.

Although all the past efforts of our troops to get into the rear of the insurgents have failed up to this time by sheer force of the battering ram, the enemy has been driven back step by step into the pocket where nothing will be left for them but surrender or the mountains. Over 55 miles, as the crow flies, the rebels have been forced back.
